SUMMARY

I am a current student in a Full Stack Web Development Bootcamp with a MBA and a BS in public accounting and has the drive to continue expanding my knowledge. Attention to detail and analytical thinking work styles I have used in the past will transfer over when working on a new code and trying to find all of the bugs.

TECHNICAL SKILLS

Languages : HTML, CSS, Javascript

Applications: Visual Studio Code, Git Bash, Node.js

PROJECTS

Can I Eat It? | github.com/pettisnick/Food-Allergy-App | pettisnick.github.io/Food-Allergy-App

- Can I Eat It? Is a kid-friendly web application that allows kids to check if a food item is safe for their allergies before consumption and suggests alternatives if not safe to consume.
- My main responsibility in creating this web application was working on the front-end, in particular the Results page. I developed the HTML for the page and then added CSS to make it look better.
- HTML, CSS with Bulma Framework, Javascript (jQuery), and Edamam Food Database API
